STUDENT CAMPUS EVENT GUIDELINES

Guidelines for Student-Organized Campus Events

These guidelines establish the basic requirements for student-organized events conducted on the Neil Gogte Institute of Technology campus. All student organizers are expected to plan and conduct events responsibly, safely, and without disruption to academic activities or campus operations.

Mandatory Event Requirements

- Maximum event budget: ₹1,00,000.
- The event must end by 10:00 PM.
- High/excessive sound is strictly not allowed.
- Beverages are not allowed.
- Alcohol and prohibited substances are strictly prohibited.
- Venue capacity must not be exceeded.
- Emergency exits must remain clear and accessible at all times.

1. Event Planning and Scheduling

- Events should be planned so that they do not interfere with regular classes, examinations, laboratories, or other scheduled institutional activities.
- The event schedule, venue use, setup, program, and dismantling should be organized in advance to avoid unnecessary congestion or disruption.
- The event must conclude no later than 10:00 PM, and the venue should be cleared promptly after the program.

2. Budget and Financial Discipline

- The total event expenditure must not exceed ₹1,00,000.
- Expenditure should be reasonable and directly related to the conduct of the event, including venue arrangements, permitted equipment, food, decorations, publicity, and other essential event requirements.
- Organizers should maintain clear records of event-related expenditure and avoid unnecessary or excessive spending.

3. Food and Refreshments

- Food arrangements must be hygienic, safely handled, and suitable for the number of participants.
- Beverages are not permitted at the event. Alcoholic drinks and prohibited substances are strictly prohibited.
- Food distribution should be organized so that crowding, littering, and obstruction of walkways are avoided.

4. Sound and Noise Control

- High, excessive, or disruptive sound is strictly not allowed.

- Sound systems must be operated at a reasonable level so that nearby academic, administrative, residential, and other campus activities are not disturbed.
- Speakers and other audio equipment should be positioned responsibly and operated only during permitted event hours.

5. Safety and Emergency Preparedness

- The venue must remain safe and suitable for the expected number of participants. Venue capacity must never be exceeded.
- Emergency exits, stairways, corridors, fire-safety equipment, and access routes must remain clear and unobstructed throughout the event.
- Temporary structures, electrical connections, decorations, cables, and equipment must be installed securely and must not create trip, fire, electrical, or other safety hazards.
- Organizers should be prepared to respond promptly to emergencies and must cooperate with campus safety personnel and emergency services when required.

6. Security and Crowd Management

- Security and access-control arrangements should be coordinated with campus security in advance, particularly for events with large attendance.
- Organizers should manage entry and exit points to prevent overcrowding and maintain orderly movement of participants.
- Unauthorized access to restricted campus areas is not permitted.
- Any security concern, disturbance, or emergency must be reported immediately to the appropriate campus personnel.

7. Participant Management

- The number of participants must remain within the safe capacity of the selected venue.
- Organizers are responsible for maintaining orderly conduct during the event and ensuring that participants follow campus rules.
- Participants must not damage college property, obstruct campus operations, or engage in unsafe or prohibited activities.

8. Venue, Property, and Cleanliness

- The venue, furniture, electrical fittings, audio equipment, and other college property must be used carefully.
- Decorations must not damage walls, ceilings, doors, floors, electrical fittings, or other infrastructure.
- The event area must be kept clean, and waste must be collected and disposed of appropriately after the event.
- Any damage or unsafe condition noticed during the event should be reported promptly to the concerned campus personnel.

9. General Conduct

- Student organizers and participants must maintain respectful and responsible conduct throughout the event.
- Smoking, alcohol, prohibited substances, and any activity that violates college rules or applicable law are strictly prohibited.
- The event must be conducted in a manner that protects the safety, dignity, and convenience of students, staff, visitors, and the wider campus community.
- These guidelines are intended to support safe, disciplined, and well-organized student events on campus.
